Supporting VCWWC operations growth & Community Impact

Volusia County Women Who Care (VCWWC) is an all-volunteer, women-led giving circle that unites hundreds of women each quarter to learn about community needs, hear directly from nominated nonprofits, and award a member-funded grant of $30,000 or more.

Each quarterly gathering welcomes over 200 community and business leaders and begins with a dynamic networking reception that fosters collaboration, shared resources and partnerships that strengthen nonprofit services across Volusia County.

During the meeting, three member-nominated nonprofits present their missions and impact. Members then vote, awarding the majority-selected organization the collective grant. Through VCWWC's Community Partner Impact Fund (CPIF), the two remaining nonprofits also receive sustaining grants—extending our reach and strengthening the county's nonprofit safety net.

These highly anticipated gatherings have become one of Volusia County's most inspiring and impactful philanthropic convenings, made possible by the generous support of individual, corporate and community sponsors who believe in creating lasting local impact.

Sponsorship Opportunities

VCWWC offers multiple sponsorship pathways and benefit packages that can be customized to meet your organization's goals for visibility, community engagement and social impact:

Annual Meeting Sponsorships provide year-round visibility and recognition across all four quarterly meetings, connecting sponsors with a rapidly growing network of purpose-driven women, business leaders, and community partners.
Single-Meeting Sponsorships offer highlighted recognition at a selected quarterly meeting—ideal for targeted visibility and engagement.
In-Kind Sponsorships are welcomed with product and service contributions recognized at corresponding sponsorship levels.
